ABOUT US

Cru Singapore is a caring community passionate about connecting others to Jesus.

Our purpose is to help fulfil the Great Commission in the power of the Holy Spirit by reaching people to faith in Jesus Christ, building them in their faith and sending them to reach and build others.

We also help the body of Christ to do missions, evangelism and discipleship.

OUR VISION

Movements everywhere, so that everyone knows someone who truly follows Jesus.

OUR MISSION

Reach, build and send Christ-centred multiplying disciples who launch spiritual movements.

UNCHANGING GOD

UNWAVERING MISSION

FOREWORD BY COUNTRY LEADER

Looking back on 2025, our hearts are filled with gratitude for the faithfulness of our unchanging God. In a world that shifts and shakes, He remains our steady anchor—faithful, loving, and true. His purposes never fail, and His heart for the lost and broken continues to beat with the same passion and compassion. From generation to generation, God’s mission has remained the same: that none should perish but that all should come to know Jesus Christ (2 Peter 3:9).

“Give thanks to the Lord, for He is good; His love endures forever.” —Psalm 118:1

This unchanging purpose shapes who we are and what we do as Cru Singapore—to Make Disciples Everywhere! Our strategies may evolve, and our ministry expressions may take new forms in different seasons, but the mission remains unwavering: to help fulfil the Great Commission by winning, building, and sending disciples who will make Christ known wherever they are.

This past year, we have once again witnessed the Lord’s faithful hand at work—in transformed lives, renewed faith, and growing communities of believers. Whether on campuses, in the marketplace, through our partnering churches, or among communities across Singapore and beyond, lives are being touched and transformed.

We are grateful to our staff, volunteers, and ministry partners who continue to live out the gospel with courage and compassion.

As we continue to serve in an uncertain and challenging environment, we hold fast to this truth: “Jesus Christ is the same yesterday and today and forever” (Hebrews 13:8). Because He does not change, we can serve with confidence and joy, assured that His mission will never falter.

As we celebrate another year of God’s faithfulness, may our hearts be renewed in gratitude and our hands strengthened for the work ahead. Let us press on—rooted in His love, led by His Spirit, and united in our shared calling to make Christ known.

Thank you again for your partnership in Making Disciples Everywhere!

LIGHT TO THE NATIONS

For so the Lord has commanded us, saying, “I have made you a light for the Gentiles, that you may bring salvation to the ends of the earth.” —Acts 13:47

Sending has always been integral to Cru Singapore’s mission—to reach, build, and send Christ-centred multiplying disciples. God uses this process to shape us into Christlikeness.

Over the past five decades, short-term mission trips have been a key avenue for discipleship and raising lifelong labourers for God’s harvest.

#GO, our missions thrust over the past two years, was birthed out of a desire to make disciples everywhere. In the post-pandemic era, we ramped up sending efforts, tapping into people’s renewed eagerness to travel and serve. Our hope is to see ministry disciples, churches and even those new to Cru take a step of faith and join in God’s mission—regardless of age, experience, or life stage. We praise God for the privilege of sending 227 teams to 20 countries, impacting almost 7,000 people for Christ in just 25 months!

As #GO unfolded, participants shared how it made missions accessible for them. With a diverse range of partnership locations and low-barrier projects, the initiative encourages even first-timers to go. Most trips are led by Cru staff, past participants, or ‘adopted’ by church groups.

One of the highlights that emerged was Families on Mission (page 12)—where parents, who have gone through the Art of Parenting course, get to apply what they have learnt while on missions with their children as a family unit. It was also heartening to hear what participants took home from the mission field as they stepped out in faith to serve the Lord:

“These villagers, despite earning so little and living in harsh conditions, also volunteered in various Care Channel initiatives without expecting anything in return. Through this experience, I learnt to shift my focus from myself and also discovered the joy of serving and caring for others.”

—Melvin,
#GO participant to the Philippines

#GO Equipping Workshops were also organised to give the everyday Christian practical handles for participating in mission trips and navigating cross-cultural ministry—whether locally or overseas.

“One of my takeaways is using active-listening to learn another person’s worldview and showing them the love of God in a way they would understand and meet their deepest needs.”

—Janice, #GO workshop participant

Mission trips are spaces of both excitement and learning. While many teams experienced the joy of seeing lives changed, some also faced challenges along the way. These moments have helped us reflect, grow, and refine our approach—equipping future teams to serve even more effectively in God’s mission.

While the #GO project officially came to a close in 2025, our commitment to sending does not end here. Moving forward, #GO will continue as the banner under which we send teams into the harvest fields—an ongoing reminder of our shared call to go. We look ahead with faith and anticipation to how God will continue to move through every willing heart.

25 MONTHS IN NUMBERS

FAMILIES ON MISSION

Families grow stronger when they serve together. That is the heart behind Families on Mission—FamilyLife Parenting’s missions initiative through #GO—giving parents and children the opportunity to catch God’s heart for the nations while growing in faith, love, and unity.

Beyond serving communities overseas, Families on Mission includes intentional moments for parents to pray with their children, engage in meaningful conversations, and put lessons from The Art of Parenting course into practice. Living and serving alongside other families also fosters a rich environment where inter-family discipleship naturally flourishes.

We believe that more is caught than taught. Parents model faith in action—setting aside time and resources for kingdom work, seeking God in prayer and Scripture, and loving others—while children watch, learn, and experience God at work, seeing the Great Commission lived out firsthand. Away from daily routines, family members discover new things about one another and return home inspired to keep serving together, whether locally or overseas.

In this way, faith and family grow hand in hand.

“You shall teach them diligently to your children, and shall talk of them when you sit in your house, when you walk by the way, when you lie down, and when you rise up.” —Deuteronomy 6:7

Parenting is discipleship through doing life together—and that includes serving alongside one’s children. While not every mission trip is suitable for kids, some are designed with family-friendly activities that allow even the youngest to participate, whether by helping with small tasks or befriending another child overseas. These trips move at a family’s pace, creating space for reflection, prayer, and precious heart-to-heart moments along the way.

Ultimately, missions is not just something that happens overseas—it begins right within the family, as they learn together what it means to love and serve God.

“I set out with the purpose of bonding with my two sons at a deeper level, and I am thankful that we had the opportunity to share intimately on one of the nights.

It was heartwarming to teach and reach out in love to the local community. Short mission trips can truly ignite—and continue to fan—the flame of the Great Commission, giving us a taste of missionary life and impressing upon my family the real possibility of embarking on this spiritual journey regularly.”

A GENERATION ON THE MOVE

By David Mak

“The heartbeat of our global movement is the 22-year-old who has the audacity of faith to believe that God can use them to help change the world.”

The harvest force of the future lies in today's youth and young adult generation. Together with the other parachurch organisations on campuses, Cru Singapore remains crystal clear in one of our key thrusts: Win the Campus today, Win the World tomorrow (Dr Bill Bright).

What a joy it has been to see the younger generation embrace their mandate in the campus ministry!

Of the 181 students we have brought on overseas short-term mission trips over the past three years, 17 have expressed a desire to serve God as missionaries or in full-time Christian ministry through their churches or parachurch organisations.

In the past two years, we have seen 16 student interns and project staff join us for harvest-work equipping, and have launched two brand new internship programmes—CATALYST and FUEL.

From these programmes, two interns went on to launch a worship and outreach movement, Five Two; another is now in Japan on long-term missions with her church; and four have joined Cru Singapore as full-time Campus Ministry staff—to reach, build and send campus students, preparing the next generation to serve the local church, the marketplace and the global harvest.

Glory be to God alone for raising up the next generation as the now generation for revival!

On tertiary campuses, we are seeing growing enthusiasm among Christian students toward missions, as well as increasing openness among international pre-believing students who are also interested in the gospel, and coming to Christ.

Looking within and beyond Cru Singapore, I am inspired by these young, burning hearts—hearts that long to see vulnerable communities helped, specific ethnic groups reached, or even a fellow tertiary student come to understand the gospel.

May we look past their “young people” label and see them as possibly the most unshackled harvest force yet. And if, like me, you belong to an older generation, we have the vital task of being the intercessors, mentors and cheerleaders that this generation needs.

May God's name be glorified.

BLESSING EVERY COUNTING

This year, we witnessed God move across campuses, communities, and nations—and behind every story of transformation stands a faithful community of supporters, prayer warriors, and partners like you. Because of your generosity and prayers, the gospel continues to go forth to both near and distant places.

On the campuses, students are encountering God and encouraging one another to live out their faith—through weekly discipleship groups, mission trips, and events like Cru Stay Over. Evangelism remains at the heart of what we do, as students are equipped to share their faith, and we rejoice with each life that comes to Christ!

16 creatives embarked on The Creative's Journey (TCJ), a nine-month discipleship programme by Crea. They rediscovered their God-given purpose, explored new ways to express their creativity, and experienced a community that uplifts and points one another back to God.

We also celebrate God's faithfulness as FamilyLife marked a decade of ministry, while WOW MOM commemorated 40 years of discipling mothers. Countless families have been strengthened and encouraged to live out their faith at home and beyond.

In August, we were blessed to gather with many of you at Partners' Evening. It was a joy to share testimonies and see firsthand how your partnership fuels lives transformed for Christ.

Overseas, one BeyondBorders team to the Philippines saw their outreach plans unexpectedly redirected to a local non-profit serving underprivileged youth. Using Finding Your Purpose (FYP), they helped participants discover their strengths, life purpose and God's unique plan for them. Several responded to the altar call and committed their lives to Christ.
